PLAIN AND PANCY BOOK AND JOB PRINTING LF BILL-HEADS, VISITING, BUSINESS AND ADDRESS

RDS printed in the highest style of the art. The Voiceless.

BY OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES We count the broken lyres that rest.

Where the sweet-wailing singers slumber

But o'er their ellent sister's breast The wild flowers, who steep to mumber! A E-w can touch the magic string,

A noisy fame is proud to win them; Alas for those that never sing, But die with all their music in them !

Nay, grieve not for the dead alone. Whose song has told their heart's sad story; Weep for the voiceless, who have known

The cross but not the crown of glory Not where Leucadian breezes sweep

O'er Sappho's memory-haunted billow, But where the glistening night-dews weep On nameless sorrow's churchyard pillow.

Oh, hearts that break and give no sign, Save whitening lips and faded tresses, Till Death pours out his cordial wine,

Slow dropped from Misery's crushing press If singing breath or echoing chord To every hidden pang were given, What endless melodies were poured,

As sad as Earth, as sweet as Heaven

VARIETY.

"Six feet in his stockings!" exclaimed Mrs. Partington. "Why Ike has only two in his, and I can never keep 'em darned at that!" The Milwaukee girl who was arrested for steal ing a pair of shoes to wear to Sunday school says she will never try to be good again. Master Willie (who has just been described by visitor as "Such an intelligent little fellow!") " Papa, has the gen'lum brought my new boots?" Papa (who doesn't see what is coming)—"Boots, Willie? Why, what makes you ask?" Master Willie-" Cause, when he came 'fore you said he was a snob; and I asked Jane what a 'snob' was, and she said a shoemaker." A colored man, employed as a deckhand on a propeller, was rushing around town yesterday and inquiring where the polls were. "Polls? polls?" repeated a citizen, "why, there is no election going on now." "There haint?" "No, sir." The man stood for a moment dooking greatly disappointed, and then turned for the river with the remark: "And now de programme is to find dat sleek young man who said dey was paying six dollars a piece for voters."

CONTRITE. - A young gentleman who attended a party in Austin, a short time since, handed to a lady, with whom he was but slightly acquainted, a motto bearing the following inscription:--What perfect, what ecstatic bliss,

To print upon thy lips a kiss. The Reveille says that when the young lady's big brother's number ten boot got through fooling around under the young gentleman's coat tails he went out into the silent air and murmured that he didn't write the motto, and wouldn't kiss her if she would hold her mouth open with a silver knife and fork and get down on her knees and beg

A St. Paul mother recently took her fifteenyear-old daughter to a party as a special favornot that she intended the child should "come out" for some time vet. That parent was rather astonished to find that the "little girl" knew nearly every society man about town, understood the figures of the "German," and could talk like a

The other day a Detroit husband was reading in a newspaper that the premonitory symptoms of insanity were a wild look, flushed face, thick speech, &c, and he handed it to his wife and remarked: "Mary, if I ever come home looking that way you'll know what it means, and you'll know what to do." "Yes, darling," she softly replied as she laid the paper down, "I'll have an emetic and a club waiting for you."

A Milwaukee belle, attending a theatre re-cently, complained in one of the scenes that the light was too dim to see the acting properly. "Won't you try this glass?" asked her escort, handing her his lorgnette. Hastily covering the suspicious looking object with her handkerchief, she placed it to her lips, took a long pull and handed it back in disgust, saying, "Why, there ain't a drop in it!"

They are about to have an hospital in London, between a railway and a grave-yard. Figaro says the "situation" will appeal to those on the Hark! from the train a doleful sound and on the other hand, competitively, thus:

Thine ear attend the cry—
Ye living men, come view the ground Where you must shortly lie!

Poor Youth.—A watering-place correspondent writes:—A beautiful young lady was walking arm and arm with a young man an evening or two ago, into whose eyes she would sweetly smile. 'It's a levely evening,' said the fair one. 'Yes,' replied her attendant. They were silent and walked on. "It was a lovely evening yesterday," said the beautiful young girl, as they came round again. "Yes," meekly answered the young man, evidently at a loss what to say. They came around a third time, and it was his turn now. "I hope it will be a lovely evening to morrow," said he. "So do I," said she. The eavesdropper arose, looked off on the water, from which the tints of the setting sun had not gone, and wondered whether all beautiful women were JAW BREAKERS .- A Vicksburger who prides himself on his choice language was over in Louisi-ana, and, stopping at a farmhouse to get a drink of water, the woman remarked that the crops stood in great need of rain. "Yes, rain is the great desideratum," he replied, as he handed the dipper back. "Mary! Mary!" yelled the woman in loud tones. A white-headed girl of sixteen came out of the back room in response to the call, and the mother continued, "Take a squar view of him, Mary! He don't look as if he knew enough to plough cotton, and yet he just got off a word as long as from here to the mule-pen and back, and he may be holdin' on to more!" The Vicksburger walked right away from there.

CHICKEN ON THE BRAIN.—There is a certain individual by the name of James Stewart, who is a talented but excentric individual, and has a Furnishing Goods. IF Benkert's Fine Call Dress Boots, weakness for chickens. On one occasion being always on hand.

N. E. Corner of Fort and Merchant Streets. 973 ly found near a poultry-yard under suspicious circumstances, he was interrogated rather sharply by the owner of the premises, as follows:—" Well, Jim, what are you doing here!" "Oh, nuffin, nuffin; jest walkin' roun'." This answer would have been satisfactory had it not been for Jim's hat. This was a rather worn soft felt, a good deal too large for the wearer's head, and it seemed to have a motion entirely unusual in hats. So the next inquiry was—" what is the matter with your hat?" "My hat?—dat's an ole hat. I'se fond ob dat hat." "Well, take it off, and let's look at it." "Take off dis hat? No sah. I'd ketch cold in my head, sartain. Always keep my hat on when I'm out o'doors." And with that Jim was about beating a hasty retreat, when, at his first step, a low "kluk, kluk, kluk," was heard, coming only too clearly from the region of his headgear. This was fatal, and Jim was stopped, and forced to remove his hat, when a plump, half-grown chicken jumped out, and ran hastily away. The fir with which the culprit gazed after it was a stop for a painter. It expressed, to perfection, which and perplexity blended, but not a transfer it. Slowly he spoke, as though explaining to himself, and accounting for so remarkable an incident. Well, if dat ain't de markable an incident-" Well, if dat ain't de funniest ting I ebber did see! Why, dat dar chick-KEALAKEKUA BAY'HA WAII. THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS ARE noted the world over for their unrivaled salubrity of climate. Certain localities in the group are especially favored in this way.—The District of Kena, on the lecuard side of Hawaii, has long been famed as a place of resort for invalids with bronchital, or lung diseases. With its pure and mild stafesphere, with its absolute freedom from storms or high winds, with its porous soil which, with all flerich vegetation, retains no dampness and yields no materia, and with an unvarying temperature—that of the American or Southern European June—AIA. THE YEAR ROUND, the climate of Kona is one of the healthlest and must luxurious on the clobe.

The undersigned, at his house at Raswaloa, a motor unequaled in the district for rise, cleanliness, commediousness, and thoroughness of farnishing, is prepared to give boarders excellent rooms and all obtainable combets in the way of diet.

THERE ARE FRESH WATER BATHS on the premises, and fine sea bathing within a short distance. The steamer Kilauca and the schooners Uliama and Frince, run regularly between Honolulu and the Kaswaloa landing.

The undersigned employs no agents nor runners. His house speaks for itself upon inspection.
